NO ERRORS FOUND IN FIGURES MADE BY TWO DEPUTIES

Walter Smedley and James Wilcox Finish County Tax Books.

State Board of Equalization in Session.

SOME FURTHER STATISTICS

The recapitulation of the assessor's books for 1907 were completed by Deputies Walter Smedley and James Wilcox this morning, and was forwarded to Frankfort to be passed on by the state board of equalization, which body must report before the fiscal court can fix the tax rate for this year, the total amount of property assessed in the county being $12,962,849. As the recapitulation shows an increase of nearly $600,000 over last year's assessment it is expected that the state board will not make any changes in the valuation.

Before the recapitulation sheets were sent to Frankfort every column of figures balanced and checked exactly with the books of the assessor, not one error being found, which reflects great credit upon the deputy clerks and assessor who did the work.

The following are statistics taken from the books in addition to those published yesterday:

William Banks, a vegetable peddler, is sued for license on four wagons, amounting to $20 for the years 1906 and 1907.

The Singer Sewing Machine company is sued for license to conduct a sewing machine agency and the additional license of $5 for each agent employed, amounting in all to $30.

MINERS WILL NOT ACCEPT LESS THAN SCALE AT PRESENT

The policy is that separate districts may adopt wage contracts with operators. Such contracts shall be for one year, the scale providing for "not less than present wage rates."

Kentucky's New Law. Lexington, Ky., March 19.—Governor Wilson signed the anti-pool bill, which legalizes betting on race tracks during races. The law will be effective on and after June 12.

TOWBOAT CAPTAIN LEAVES DRUNKEN WATCHMAN ASHORE

Captain Buckingham, of the towboat Russell Lord, enforces total abstinence on his boat and will not allow anyone, who has been drinking, on the boat. When the Russell Lord was engaging help to take him on a trip to White river after ties for the Ayer & Lord Tie company, every man was searched by the captain and a half bushel of whisky bottles were dumped in the river. Several men were rejected because they had been drinking. A watchman smuggled some whisky on board and when the boat was just below Joppa he came on deck and began to boss everybody on the boat and finally tried to have several of the negro tie carriers haul ashes from the engine room, but they refused and a fight followed. Three of the negroes were cut about the arms. Captain Buckingham heard of the watchman's action and immediately landed and put the watchman off the boat in the woods.

MISS ELKINS MAY BECOME PRINCESS OF ROYAL HOUSE

Millan, March 19.—Miss Elkins, daughter of Senator Elkins, who, it is reported, will marry the Duke of Albruzz, will be made a "royal highness" in her own right, and sons born will be princes of the royal house with the right of succession to the throne. King Victor, according to Rome dispatches, is pleased with the match, and will give the couple a royal palace.

IOWA DECLARES FOR TAFT AND TARIFF REVISION IN HER STATE CONVENTION

Allison Endorsed But "Stand-patters" Have No Say in Tariff Plank in Platform.

Des Moines, March 19.—The Republican state convention yesterday elected four delegates at large to the national convention, instructed them for Taft, endorsed Senator Allison by a vote of 672 17-24 to 507 7-24, and approved the plank of the platform calling for a revision of the tariff at a special session of congress.

The Allison people dominated the convention from opening to close and had things their own way throughout. The Cummins people, although defeated in the convention, took especial delight in having, as they declared, forced the stand-patters to endorse the plank calling for a revision of the tariff and they made it a point to frequently remind the Allison people of the fact.

The latter insisted, however, that there were as many revisionists in their ranks as with the Cummins men and declared that the vote in the convention showed conclusively the relative popularity of the two men throughout the state.

It was generally expected before the final session of the convention that there would be a majority and minority report on the tariff, and the Cummins men had prepared to make a strong fight for the administration of the Ohio plank. When the committee actually settled down to work, however, it was evident that the Allison people were determined to endorse the plank themselves and the only fight made on the report of the committee on resolutions was against the endorsement of Allison.

Four members of the committee united on the minority report object-

INCREASE PAY OF TEACHERS PLAN OF SCHOOL BOARD

Will Also Require Teachers to Keep in Touch With Modern Methods.

BUSINESS COURSE Probably Added to High School.

PLANS NOT FULLY MATURED

According to well authenticated tip teachers and principals of the city schools will come in for a substantial raise in salaries next year. In fact, teachers will be given their choice between getting better salaries or giving way to more progressive applicants.

Although the board has taken no action, plans are already being considered whereby the requirements for positions in the city schools will be put high enough, while reasonable, to demand of each teacher such attention to the professional side of teaching as will gradually raise the standard of efficiency in all departments. Probably a certificate of graduation from some institution of higher education or a normal course and attendance at teachers' institutes will be required. It is well known to the teachers that Supt. J. A. Carnagey urges attendance at institutes and acquaintance with modern methods, and the trustees apparently are willing to co-operate with the heads of the schools in getting the best work from the teachers.

A thousand or more dollars may be added to the payroll next year by increases, but whether the increases will be a flat raise all around or the pay graduated according to merit, is not known. More than likely principals will get $5 or so month, more and the teachers a slightly less sum added to their monthly income. That would be a start, but the trustees desire a desire to make a more substantial increase when they can.

BUSINESS COURSE.
Probably next year a business course will be added to the High school. Other cities have had such a course for years, and it has proved a popular one, as well as profitable to the scholars. A canvass of railroad clerks in the city showed that a large percentage of them got their positions through knowledge gained in a High school business course. The advantage of it is, that while the pupils are acquiring knowledge of the special branches of the course, they are also acquiring a thorough education in English and other branches. An instructor in typewriting, bookkeeping and stenography only need be added to the faculty the first year.

ST. BERNARD COAL CO. REENTERS RIVER TRADE

The St. Bernard Coal company will re-enter the boat coaling business just as soon as the tipples, which is now being built, is completed. About four months ago the St. Bernard Coal company gave up the boat coaling business because of its inability to get cars to carry the coal from the mines at St. Charles to this city, when the company most needed the coal, but now the St. Bernard company has a contract with the Illinois Central to furnish as many cars daily as the contract calls for, to haul coal from the mines to this city. A new tipple is being constructed by the St. Bernard Coal company at the dock on the Tennessee river and boats will be coaled as they were before.

HOUSEBREAKING CHARGE IS HEARD IN POLICE COURT

A peculiar situation was developed this morning in the case against Mrs. Kate Morgan, charged with housebreaking.

She was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant sworn out by H. Hammond, who lives in a double tenement house with Mrs. Morgan. Monday $4 was hid about the house and in the evening $1 was missing. Tuesday Mary Hammond, 14 years old, hid the money in several places, and it is said, Mrs. Morgan questioned the girl, where she placed the money. The key to the front door was hid on the side of the house, and several witnesses swore they saw Mrs. Morgan around where the key was hid, and saw her at the front door of the house. After hearing the evidence Judge Cross thought the jury should pass on the case and recognized Mrs. Morgan for her appearance before the grand jury.

IN POLICE COURT.
The docket was: Drunk—Jim Woodridge, W. J. Cody and George Thomas, $1 and costs each. Breach of peace—Wesley Pempton, colored, continued until tomorrow; Willis Strickland and Frank Strickland, colored, continued until tomorrow. Housebreaking—Mrs. Kate Morgan, held to grand jury. Malicious cutting—Charles Carroll, held to answer.

ALLEGED BOOTLEGGER

Elwood Neel, deputy United States marshal, returned late yesterday afternoon from Caseyville, where he arrested Herman Riley, 63 years old, charged with bootlegging. Riley is accused of selling liquor in Johnson county in Illinois without a government license, and he gave bond before Armour Gardner, United States commissioner, for appearance before the federal court in Danville, Ill., next October.

SUMMER WEATHER TURNS WINTER FOR SPRING OPENINGS

From summer heat to winter is the promise of the weather clerk for the next 24 hours. Yesterday's highest temperature was 82, and 32, or freezing is predicted for tonight. The last three days have been as balmy as spring, but the next three may be as bleak as the depths of winter. Then, too, the equinoctial storms, bringing with them no one knows what kind of weather, are due the latter part of the week, the 21st, so those hasty folk who jumped from flannels to summer-weights should get out the old garb and have it ready.

The cold spell of today has been a frost for the stores with their spring openings and the countenances of the merchants along Broadway were as gloomy as the skies all day.

"While we shall have a freezing temperature tonight, I think it will not kill the fruit and vegetation," said Weather Observer William Borne man, today. "It won't be severe enough. Last March we had a warm spell starting on the 20th and continuing twelve days, when it was exceedingly warm. Then a cold snap came and lasted until after June 1. Of course, I can't predict what such a fickle thing as the weather will do, but I don't look for a repetition of last year's season."

Between 8 and 9 o'clock last night the wind began blowing rather hard, and lightning flashed across the heavens frequently. The patrolmen say the wind became heaviest about midnight, and after it had died down rain began falling heavily. The downpour continues about 20 minutes. After the rain the weather began getting colder, and when the average Paducahian awoke he jumped out to find his winter clothes. All traces of the spring fever have disappeared, and today everyone walked briskly on the streets.

WEATHER.

Henry Christian, Prominent Farmer of Oscar Neighborhood, Finds Note Warning Him.

Wickliffe, Ky., March 19. (Special)—Henry Christian, a prominent planter of the Oscar settlement, this county, and his family were awakened about midnight by shouts and catcalls outside his door. The family made no noise, and when Mr. Christian's name was called and he was ordered to the door, he did not respond. Presently the crowd rode away, satisfied that the family was not at home, but Mr. Christian heard some one say: "We will get him yet."

This morning Mr. Christian searched for evidences of the night riders and pinned to a tree near his plant bed was a scrawling note, which read: "You are getting too big for your britches. You have talked against the association and we will have to discipline you. DON'T PLANT ANY TOBACCO THIS YEAR." The last words were in capitals and underlined.

With the note was a bundle of switches. When the news reached him, J. F. Lawrence, county chairman of the association, said he will call a meeting of the association at Oscar Saturday, for the purpose of adopting resolutions condemning the night riders and calling upon all good citizens and association men to aid in keeping down lawlessness.

NIGHT RIDER WARNINGS.
Leitchfield, Ky., March 19. (Special)—Members of the Farmers' Co-operative Union, a new organization in this county, are receiving warning letters from night riders.

MUST NOT RAISE CROP.
West Point, Ky., March 19. (Special)—Growers in this section, who had prepared to plant tobacco, found switches and warnings in the mail boxes this morning. Planters decided not to raise crop.

CHILDREN DIE.
Joseph Herman Wurth, the four-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wurth, died early this morning at the parents' home at St. Johns, of pneumonia. The funeral and burial will be held tomorrow morning at St. Johns.

BURNS PETWAY.
Burns Petway, the 20-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Petway, 233 Hayes avenue, died yesterday afternoon of pneumonia. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The burial was in Oak Grove cemetery.

METCALF THINKS
BOAT COMPANIES HAVE FAIR SHOW

Washington, March 19.—Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, a witness before the committee investigating the charges of corruption of congress by the Electric Boat company, said former Senator Thurston suggested asking the attorney general whether or not the Lake boat could be purchased, although it was shown to be inferior in test. Metcalf said Representatives Butler, Sherman, Loudenslager and Roberts called on him and said they thought it to be the government's interest to have both kinds of submarines. Metcalf said the pending bills did not compel him to buy only the Electric Boat company's boats. He said he thought the pending naval bill gives the Lake company enough time to get in on the appropriation for submarines. This contradicts one of Lillian's charges.

Labor Leaders.
Labor leaders in conference adopted a protest demanding of congress relief from present conditions imposed on organized labor by the supreme court.

The administration bill for the re-enlistment of negro soldiers discharged without honor as the result of the Brownsville affair, was introduced today by Senator Warner.

Mr. F. W. Katterjohn, of the board of public works will leave tomorrow for Jackson, Tenn., to inspect the roads around Jackson. City Engineer Washington will be unable to make the trip at present owing to the rush of work in the engineer's office.

Another Sale Made.
Mayfield, Ky., March 19.—Eleven hogsheads of association tobacco were sold Wednesday by Salesman Humphreys
to the American Snuff company
as follows: Four at $7; two at $8;
one at $8.50; one at $9; three at $10.

Hopkinsville Tobacco.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 19.—Increased activity was shown by the local tobacco market during the past week. A total of 98 hogsheads were sold at prices which were satisfactory to both buyer and seller. Of these sales 76 hogsheads were sold by the Planters' Protective association and 22 hogsheads by the American Society of Equity. The association has sold 322 hogsheads to date. The sales at the association salesroom were of low grades, lugs and common leaf, and prices ranged from $7 to $10 for lugs, and $10.50 to $12 for leaf. This makes a total of 322 hogsheads sold here to date, and the receipts amount to 2,100 hogsheads. All of the sales made during the week were fully up to the graded prices, while in some instances, where the quality of the tobacco justified, an increase over the grade prices was secured in order to work up the heavy receipts of tobacco,
which continue steadily.

Receipts at Clarksville.

As the weather has become spring
like and the farmers have begun to run the plow, the receipts of tobacco have grown less. There have been some deliveries during the week, but not very large. The prizing houses are not discouraged by this, as most of the houses have a sufficient quantity to run for some time to come.

The quality of tobacco seen now in the warehouses is indicative of the fact that the prizers have not been idle. All things look prosperous and it is expected that everybody will be satisfied with the result of last year's tobacco growing. Very good weights, good quality and good prices and no
advances insure money enough to run through the season.—Leaf Chronicle.

Stones, Coal, Hot Water and Even Guns in Fight

Witness at Hearing Has a Spirited Verbal Encounter With the Defense.

PUT AN END TO COMPETITION

Cleveland, O., March 19.—Stories of hand-to-hand fights, where stones, coal, hot water and guns were used in the encounter between the independents and the Standard Oil company's forces in the early days of the oil industry, for possession of rights of way for pipe lines were told by Lewis Emery, Jr., of Bradford, Pa., who was on the witness stand all day for the prosecution in the government's ouster suit against the Standard Oil company.

Mr. Emery, who also told of the history of the industry, said he entered the oil business in 1865. He recounted the days of the struggling refiners before the advent of the Standard Oil company in 1873, and declared that competition ceased at that time.

Upon cross-examination of Attorney Rosenthal for the defense, the testimony of Mr. Emery was quite amusing at times, as the attorney and the witness had several spirited encounters at repartee, brought out by the witness' admission that he had been a lifelong opponent of the Standard Oil company and had, in the past few years, testified at great length upon several occasions against the big company.

Mr. Emery related in detail his fight for the oil trade, both in the United States and in Germany. In some instances, he said, he won the contest and in others met defeat. This, he said, was particularly true in Philadelphia, where he had a refinery which he said he was finally forced to sacrifice to the Standard Oil company.

Again, in Philadelphia, he said, he conducted a retail business, but in this also met opposition he could not withstand, although he spent a large sum of money and sold oil as low as 2½ cents a gallon. He also stated that one of his pipe lines near Bradford, Pa., was made unprofitable owing to the Standard Oil company offering a premium of 10 cents a barrel on crude oil.

Mr. Emery dwelt at length upon the early formation days of the Standard Oil company.

SUPT. J. A. CARNAGEY MAKES REPORT ON NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL ASS'N

Tells What School Men Are Seeking to Accomplish in This Country.

Prof. J. A. Carnagey, superintendent of the Paducah public schools, made the following report of the National Educational association at Washington:

I wish to congratulate the city of Paducah on having a school board that is broad-minded enough to recognize the value of keeping abreast of the best educational thought of the day. Every business and professional man realizes the importance of coming into intimate personal contact with other men working along the same lines as his own. Men in every phase of professional and business activity have their meetings where ways and means of getting the best results are discussed and views are exchanged. Men of business know that in order to meet competition they must not get behind their neighbors, and they send their special representatives when meetings affecting their interests are to be held. These meetings cannot fail to be a source of inspiration to those who attend, and this inspiration and the ideas gleaned from the meeting must result in better methods, and thus a higher standard of efficiency be secured, and the business or organization be made better.

The superintendent of state, county and city schools of the United States, have, for more than thirty years, held an annual meeting in some city. For the first fifteen years of its existence the department of superintendents of the National Educational association held its annual meeting in the city of Washington. Since 1889 the meetings have been held in various cities of the country. For the first time since 1889 the meeting for February, 1908, was set for Washington city. There has been a wonderful growth in the attendance at the meeting since the first time I attended in Cleveland, O., in 1895. Then there were some 250 or 300 persons enrolled. At the last meeting at Washington at least 1,500 persons were present. I am not advised as to the exact number. The newspapers reported that the attendance reached 2,000. At the reception held by the president on Wednesday afternoon about 1,500 cards of invitation to delegates were given out.

The program included three days, and men of national and international reputation appeared and discussed matters of interest to the schools. On Tuesday morning at the first session, the Hon. Joseph G. Cannon, speaker of the house, honored the department by delivering an address of welcome. It certainly was a high honor to have a man of Mr. Cannon's prominence to speak to us on educational matters.

Mr. Cannon emphasized the necessity of local communities paying more liberally toward education. He deprecated the idea of the state's being expected to educate the pupils out of a state fund. This applies particularly to us in Kentucky. What our people need to learn is that if their schools are to improve as they should, they must be supported more liberally by local taxation, as is the case in the states of the north. Kentucky must not depend upon the $2.40 per capita to educate her children. She should, by statute, provide that citizens and county districts should supplement this by taxing themselves so that at least $2 should be available for their work.

The teacher is the important factor in all school work. Good buildings and good text-books are important, but above and beyond these things, stands the well-prepared conscientious teacher, who is constantly striving to improve herself for her work, and who has a higher motive than simply to put in her time, draw her salary and hold her place from year to year.

The consensus of opinion was that the good teachers are worth much more than the people are paying them, and that the poor teacher is expensive at the lowest salary paid. It was felt that teachers who are growing and trying to improve themselves by taking work in corresponding schools, by travel, by attending summer Normal schools or colleges, by systematic reading and study, should be paid better salaries than those teachers who are content simply to hang on, year after year, without taking any interest in preparing themselves for better work.

"This was terribly discouraging, as I couldn't bear the thought of losing a whole year of study. Becoming convinced that my nervousness was caused largely by coffee, and seeing Postum so highly spoken of, I decided I would test it for a while.

"Mother followed the directions carefully and I thought I had never tasted such a delicious drink. We drank Postum every morning instead of coffee, and by November I felt more like myself than for years, and was ready to resume my music.

"I now practice as usual, my studying and when my day's work is finished I am not any more nervous than when I began.

"I cannot too highly recommend Postum to musicians who practice half a day. My father is a physician and recommends Postum to his patients. Words cannot express my appreciation for this most valuable health beverage, and experience has proven its superiority over all others." "There's a Reason."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellyville," in packages.

come from local taxation for every dollar that comes from the state. Even then we should be below the average raised in the nation by local taxation for school purposes.

In the papers presented, I was particularly struck by the number of men and women who discussed and advocated manual training for the schools. In fact, the whole of Tuesday afternoon was given to a symposium on "The Place of Industries in Public Education." The persons who discussed and advocated—not manual training, but vocational training, training in the elements of trades—were James E. Russell, dean of Teachers' college, Columbia University, New York; Edward C. Elliott, professor of education in the University of Wisconsin; James F. McElroy, president of the Consolidated Car company, Albany, N. Y.; Miss Langley of the school of education in the University of Chicago; Charles H. Morse, secretary of the Massachusetts commission of industrial education, and George H. Martin, the secretary of the Massachusetts board of education. These persons, without exception, advocated the training of children in the elements of trades and vocation in the upper grammar grades and the high schools. Or to sum it up in the words of President Roosevelt, in his address to the department, "To educate boys and girls toward the workshop and the farm, and not away from them."

One could not help feeling that there is a strong tendency throughout the nation to follow in the footsteps of Germany, France and other continental countries in dividing the time of the school day between what we ordinarily call book subjects and some form of handwork. I, myself, feel that we may swing too far in that direction in our schools. Our people in the United States are different from those of continental Europe where the boy usually follows the trade or business of the father and the class distinction is so marked that for generations the sons have followed the same line of work as their fathers. But in free America it is more difficult to decide upon the calling or vocation of our boys. Because a man is a carpenter, there is no certainty that the son will be a carpenter. Hence, it would be difficult to give boys in our vocational schools the training in the elements of the trade or vocation he expects to follow as a man.

I believe that skill in manual work should be emphasized so that the boy or girl can easily adapt himself or herself to whatever form of labor he or she decides upon at the time school days are over, and the time for taking place in the active life of the world comes.

Another topic of discussion, upon which much stress was laid, by many of the most prominent superintendents was that of scurrying and holding teachers who are willing to improve themselves after they get into the schools. In many places teachers secure and hold places through the most flagrant favoritism—through pull, either of political influence or of influence of relatives. These teachers having once secured a place, attempt to hold it, whether they are worthy or not. Various plans are adopted in different cities to improve the teaching force. It is found that it is unfair to grade teachers in salary simply upon the length of service. As many of them make no attempt to improve themselves, while others getting no better salaries, are constantly reading, studying or going to summer schools or colleges, thus the better fitting themselves for their work.

The teacher is the important factor in all school work. Good buildings and good text-books are important, but above and beyond these things, stands the well-prepared conscientious teacher, who is constantly striving to improve herself for her work, and who has a higher motive than simply to put in her time, draw her salary and hold her place from year to year.

The consensus of opinion was that the good teachers are worth much more than the people are paying them, and that the poor teacher is expensive at the lowest salary paid. It was felt that teachers who are growing and trying to improve themselves by taking work in corresponding schools, by travel, by attending summer Normal schools or colleges, by systematic reading and study, should be paid better salaries than those teachers who are content simply to hang on, year after year, without taking any interest in preparing themselves for better work.

On Wednesday afternoon, February 26th, the superintendents met in the east room of the White House. It was the intention to pass in before the president, in order that every one might have an opportunity to shake hands with him, but on account of the crowded conditions of the room and the corridors, it was thought best to change the plan, and have the president address the assemblage. In his usual characteristic manner, the chief executive of the nation in a short, telling speech, paid a high tribute to the work of the public schools and those in charge of them. He spoke of the importance of giving the right training to form good citizens out of the boys and girls of the schools. He deprecated the number of idlers, both the rich gilded youths of fashion, who because of their money are useless members of the body politic, and the hobos, who refuse to work, and are therefore.

Judging from the speeches delivered

will be about a stand off.

financial stringency more severely
since he consulted a New York specialist.

tor Campbell was ill timed to be convincing.

The State Journal has received from the Taft press bureau "An eloquent table," as it is termed, which shows that of the fourteen states that have held conventions, Taft had 116 instructions to nothing for the other candidates, except Fairbanks, who gets Indiana's 26 votes. The table
may be very "eloquent," as described,
but even the Fairbanks men will admit
it is rather convincing.—Kentucky

THE OPTIMISTIC VIEW.
Outrages against Kentucky manhood and vested property rights are deplorable, but there is a more optimistic view of these night rider outbreaks. Its very violence may serve to peremptorily correct a condition,
that is in part responsible for it.
Either the night riders will absolutely control the local civil authorities and put the entire citizenship under duress
of fear, or stronger men will be called into service. Either the night riders will dominate the state legislature to cripple the arm of the executive, or stronger characters will appear in the halls of the general assembly.

The night riders have shown that civil officers in those counties in which they appear are contemptible, willing to receive the emoluments of public office, but disregarding their oaths.
The call for specific aid made upon the legislators of the state by the governor, has shown that there is scarcely a real man among them. What legislation they seriously undertook was designed on its face to encourage night riding, and to our shame let it be said, that the people could not control them, but it required the intervention of the tobacco trust to kill the measure.

Night riding isn't wholly mercenary. The misguided individuals who started it, and some of its advocates today regard it as a "cause." The night riders stand high in the scale of citizenship and honor beside the civil authorities and the law makers, who go on drawing their pay and playing petty politics, and doing nothing to uphold the law and re-establish order in the commonwealth.

Let us work to the end that we may raise up law makers and those sworn to execute the law, who will be, at least, the peers of the night riders.

FAIRBANKS CAMPAIGN IN KEN-TUCKY.

The Louisville Post looks on Ben
Bruner in this wise:

The Lexington Leader, in reviewing the political situation in Kentucky, says:

The federal and state officeholders
who are managing the campaign for Vice-President Fairbanks in Kentucky are doing all in their power to drive
the state back into the Democratic column next November by sending out professional organizers among the negroes to incite them against Secretary Taft by denunciatory speeches, the result of which is sure to be more or less disaffection among the colored voters and possibly a sufficient falling off in the Republican vote to change

the result in the state.

This is not the one or only offense
of certain Fairbanks leaders; the secretary of state, while assistant United States marshal under Marshal Long,
roamed the whole territory, from border to border, in an effort, by his Ciceronian eloquence, to array the state against Mr. Taft. Now he is blatant in his denunciation of federal officeholders because they will not follow two ex-federal officeholders—
Bruner and Thatcher.

Mr. Bruner Thursday night began his address by censuring the governor, declaring that if he (Bruner) was governor—imagine it!—he would pardon Powers in forty-eight hours.

Governor Wilson has been governor for more than three months, and he has wisely refrained from pardoning Powers.

After Mr. Bruner had made mincemeat of the governor he turned upon the president and denounced him for the course he was following.

Bruner and Thatcher can do more mischief in twenty-four hours than the sober-minded, intelligent, sagacious leaders of the Republican party can undo in a week. There is no more reason for federal officers maintaining perpetual silence than there is for state officers. Men fit for either position have a respect for themselves, for their fellow-citizens, for their associates and for their opponents.
There is no law on either statute book forbidding a postmaster or a collector
or a secretary of state or an Inspector from taking the stump for any candidate, but there are certain utterances that in the mouths of these officers
become the height of impropriety, which is often a greater offense than a direct violation of the letter of the law. Such speeches as were made in Louisville on Thursday by Messrs.
Thatcher and Bruner are characteristic of their anti-Taft campaign. If their relation to the party was thoroughly shown to the public they would have no ill effect, but these gentlemen find publicity through the Democratic newspapers, which, to give importance to such rambling utterances, impute to the Republican party the malice of these two gentlemen.

THE MYSTERY

And SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

CHAPTER V.

HEN Barnett came on deck very early on the morning of June 7
he found Dr. Trendon already up and staring moodily out at the Laughing Lass. As the night was calm the tow had made fair time toward their port in the Hawaiian group.

The surgeon was muttering something which seemed to Barnett to be in a foreign tongue.

"Thought out any clew, doctor?"

"Petit Chel—pshaw! Jolts Cell-men! No," muttered Trendon. "Marie—Marie—I've got it! The Marie Celeste."

"Got what? What about her?"

"Parallel case," said Trendon. "Sailed
from New York back in the seventies. Seven weeks out was found dead. Everything in perfect order.
Captain's wife's hem on the machine.
Boats all accounted for. No sign of struggle. Log written to within forty-eight hours."

"What became of the crew?"

"Wish I could tell you. Might help to unravel our tangle." He shook his head in sudden, unwanted passion.
"Evidently there's something criminal in her record," said Barnett, frowning at the frosty schooner astern. "Otherwise the name wouldn't be painted out."

"Painted out long ago. See how rusty it is. Schermerhorn's work, maybe," replied Trendon. "Secret expedition, remember."

"In the name of wonders, why should
he do it?"

"Secret expedition, wasn't it?"

"Um-ah; that's true," said the other thoughtfully. "It's quite possible."

"Captain wishes to see both of you gentlemen in the wardroom, if you please,"
came a message.

Below they found all the officers gathered. Captain Parkinson was pacing up and down in ill controlled agitation.

"Gentlemen," he said, "we are facing a problem which so far as I know is without parallel. It is my intention to bring the schooner which we have in tow to port in Honolulu. In the present unsettled weather we cannot continue to tow her. I wish two officers to take charge. Under the circumstances I shall issue no orders.
The duty must be voluntary."

Instantly every man, from the veteran Trendon to the paymaster, volunteered.

"That is what I expected," said Captain Parkinson quietly. "But I have still a word to say. I make no doubt in my own mind that the schooner has twice been beset by the gravest of perils. Nothing less would have driven Mr. Edwards from his post. All of us who know him will appreciate that.
Nor can I free myself from the darkest forebodings as to his fate and that of his companions. But as to the nature of the peril I am unable to make any conjecture worthy of consideration.
Has any one a theory to offer?"

There was a dead silence.

"Mr. Barnett? Mr. Trendon? Mr.
Ives?"

"I have asked myself that over and over. Whatever the source of the light and however near to it the schooner may have been she is evidently unharmed."

"Yes, sir," said Barnett. "That seems to vitiate that explanation."

"I thank you, gentlemen, for the promptitude of your offers," continued
the captain. "In this respect you make my duty the more difficult. I shall accept Mr. Ives because of his familiarity with sailing craft and with these seas." His eyes ranged the group.

"I beg your pardon, Captain Parkin-

"but I've handled a schooner yacht for several years and I'd appreciate the

IN SOCIAL CIRCLES

Married Yesterday.

Miss Letta Lecker and Mr. Chris King, of Birmingham, were married yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the St. Nicholas hotel by the Rev. M.

E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church.

The gingers were wonderful in their variety and dainty prettiness.

Counters were full of exquisite needle

work, shelves filled with it, racks

hung with it; every model known to the season was on exhibition. It was a show in itself.

Wash Goods.

No department showed to a better advantage than that where the various styles of wash goods were on display, soft as the finest silk, dainty as gauze, exquisite in coloring, with all the shades and the tones that brides

and young girls delight in. There could be nothing much more attractive conceived.

There were French embroideries,

tissues, exquisite as imported silks.

There were Paris Mulls, sheer Madras,

waist material, rich and dainty enough

for the robing of a queen.

Linen and Linen Embroidery.

One turned to behold the counters

and shelves of the embroidery department overflowing with patterns as intricate and dainty as those our old friend, Jack Frost, used to trace over night on our window panes. The patterns seemed to be infinite in range.

There were slight stripes, just wide enough to sew on to something else;

there were intricate tissues that fairly

coqueted with the throng of femininity

surging past; there were wide bands of it, deep and massive patterns. Only a woman could say what they were used for, but they were undeniably pretty. Nearly all of these were imported by the firm from St.

Gall, Switzerland.

The line of Parasols was in keeping with the rest of the display. Designers seemed to have reached the

plus ultra in this class of spring

goods, and Rudy's, as usual, have procured the best there is to be had

for their trade.

Hosiery.

The hosiery display was never equalled in the city. Every conceivable color and shade was shown, the beautiful gauze like silks a shade or a tint for every gown, black and colors in plain and in embroidered patterns, to suit every fancy. The display could not have been more complete.

Carpets and Draperies.

The carpets and draperies were on the third floor. Caesar and Nero considered themselves long on this sort of property, but it is to be seriously

questioned whether the stock of carpets displayed by Rudy's would have made the fiddle-playing monarch take a second seat in the orchestra. The best weaves of the looms of England and America, the richest fabrics from Persia and India, and Rugs! Rugs!

Rugs! from all over the world. There

were rich Madras draperies and lace

draperies and muslin draperies; they

were in dainty patterns and in bold

conventional figures. They were in

tints and shades and combinations,

until it is safe to assert that any one

who wanted draperies could have

himself suited in this wonderful collection.

Millinery.

In conjunction with this opening,

Mrs. Girardey also had her display of enrichment. The richest fabrics from the looms of Egypt and India, neat

dyes from Tyre and cunning workmanship in silver and gold from

Greecce, the most exquisite its earth

could boast, swells the flood of riches

that rapine poured unceasingly into her coffers. But no such wares as were shown at this Broadway emporium today were there. They were in the world those days.

The Silk Department.

The exhibition of new spring styles

at J. A. Rudy & Sons' today marked and epoch in the retail merchandising business of Paducah. There was more than ever graced an imperial triumph

in the palmyest days of Rome. More in quality, more in variety, infinitely

more in quality.

Millinery.

The hats of the seven hills swept

the ends of the earth with her conquering hosts, subduing all people and wresting their treasures for her own enrichment. The richest fabrics from

Persia and India, and Rugs! Rugs!

Rugs! from all over the world. There

were rich Madras draperies and lace

draperies and muslin draperies; they

were in dainty patterns and in bold

conventional figures. They were in

tints and shades and combinations,

until it is safe to assert that any one

who wanted draperies could have

himself suited in this wonderful collection.</p

GOOD BLOOD

NATURE'S PROTECTION AGAINST DISEASE

The preservation of health and prevention against disease is almost entirely dependent upon pure, healthy blood; every organ, tissue, nerve and sinew of the body draws on this vital fluid for nourishment and strength. Poisons, humors and germs from various sources often get into the blood, and then this great life-stream becomes a source of infection and disease, instead of a nourishing, health-sustaining fluid. Heredity is likewise an important factor, regulating the quality of the blood. Some persons are born with tainted blood from diseased ancestry, and Scrofula in one of its numerous forms is sure to crop out some time in life. Not only poisons in the blood are responsible for disease, but when the circulation is run down and becomes poor and weak in quality, then we see the effect in a general bad condition of health, such as weakness, sallow complexions, boils, and various skin eruptions. All blood troubles require a tonic and blood purifier, and none other equals S. S. S. It goes down to the very foundation of the trouble, and removes every particle of the poison or impurity from the blood. And not only does S. S. S. antidote the poisons, humors and germs, but it possesses health-giving, tonic properties, which build up and strengthen weak, impoverished blood, and fortifies the system against disease. S. S. S. permanently cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Scrofula, Eczema, Tetter, and all other skin diseases and disorders. Book on the blood and any medical advice free.

SOME CONVENTIONS

WILL DECIDE DISTRICT AND STATE DELEGATES.

Louisville Republicans Agree to Abide By Decisions of the Ward Conventions.

Louisville, March 19.—While many of the Fairbanks and Taft members of the Republican city and county committee say that matters were adjusted amicably at the special meeting last night, W. Marshall Bullitt was of the opinion that the Taft forces put things over the plate, just as they did at the meeting two weeks ago, and got what they were fighting for all the time. At any rate, the congressional committee met after the city and county committee had made a few changes in the call issued two weeks ago, and indorsed the call for selecting delegates to the state convention, in that the same delegates selected to the state convention should be selected at the same time to a district convention to nominate a candidate for congress and select two delegates to the national Republican convention.

It was said that the harmonious meeting of the city and county committee was the result of a conference between Taft and Fairbanks representatives.

It was agreed and placed in the call that the 217 delegates selected April 25 from the city and county and state convention should be selected for a congressional district convention to select two delegates to the national Republican convention and to nominate a candidate for congress. This district convention will be held at Lederkranz hall, Sixth and Walnut streets, the night of May 5, it being the night before the meeting of the state convention, which is to be held May 6.

Ward Conventions Will Decide.

The indorsing of the action of the city and county committee by the congressional committee assures the fact that the fight for the Republican nomination for congress will be settled virtually at the ward conventions April 25. The fact that Robert C. Kinney is an announced Taft man and that Nat C. Curton, his opponent, is an out-and-out Fairbanks man, means that it will be a battle royal between the Taft and Fair-

Princeton, N. J., March 19.—Grover Cleveland, the only living ex-president of the United States, was 71 years old yesterday. Though he has lived in practical retirement since he left the white house more than ten years ago, Mr. Cleveland has not by any means been forgotten by his former political associates, his personal friends and his legion of admirers. This was evidenced by the receipt of countless letters and messages of congratulation. The felicitous greeting came from all sections of the country.

Mr. Cleveland will take no part in the coming presidential campaign. His intentions in this regard have been made plain to friends who have approached him on the subject. The anti-Bryan element among the Democrats of New Jersey would like to have had Mr. Cleveland go over the Denver convention as a delegate from this state. Old time Democrats in New York and throughout the east were ready to support the plan, but Mr. Cleveland could not be persuaded to give his consent. It is possible that the events of the coming campaign may so shape themselves as to bring from the ex-president a formal statement setting forth his views on the questions at issue, but he has given his friends to understand that so far as any public appearance or speech making goes he must be counted out.

At 71 years of age Mr. Cleveland is still in the enjoyment of pretty good health, thanks to the fishing and hunting trips and other forms of outdoor enjoyment. In magazine articles, in his conversation or his lectures to the students of Princeton, all the old power and clearness of thought are there.

banks forces at the convention polls. Should there be contests, and the chances are that there will be, the convention on the night of May 5 will be an unusually stormy affair. This, too, is assured by the fact that the campaign for the Republican nomination for congress is now on. Some of the leaders wanted the nomination for congress made after the state convention, but the leaders thought that this would entail an unnecessary expense and for that reason they thought the whole business should be settled at once.

SCHOOL NOTES

Replies to a letter sent by a girl in the fourth grade at Durham, N. C., little Miss Aleene Traubger, a pupil of Miss Anna Larkin, of the fourth grade in the Washington building, mailed a letter today giving a description of Paducah. Several days ago Superintendent Carnagey received a letter from a pupil in the fourth grade at Durham, and asked the superintendent to hand it to some pupil in the fourth grade. Miss Traubger was selected to answer the letter, and she gave a good description of Paducah, and its advantages. The little Miss from Durham described the large factories that city has. It is probable that the two grades will continue the correspondence.

Tickets for the art exhibit have been distributed at all of the school buildings so that every pupil may have an opportunity to purchase one. Superintendent Carnagey is anxious that the parents as well as the children view these reproductions of the world's masterpieces. Every child selling $1 worth of tickets will be entitled to a ticket. For adults the admission is 15 cents and for children 10 cents.

This morning at opening exercise the High school students had a pleasant musical program. Miss Caroline Ham, supervisor of music, sang several songs from the "Merry Widow," and Misses Bess Lane, and Eunice Robertson played a duet.

"He's a distant relative of yours by marriage, isn't he?"

"Well—Yes. He eloped with my wife, and he hasn't spoken to me since."—Cleveland Leader.

SEWER COMMITTEE

AGREES TO PROPOSITION OF MR. GEORGE WEIKEL.

Will Build Sewer Across His Property on Condition That He List It at $8,000 Value.

The sewer committee of the general council met last night and decided to accept Mr. George Weikel's proposition that if the city would build a sewer through the square of low land owned by Weikel between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets on Broadway, he would fill the depression and list the property at $8,000 for city tax purposes. At present the property is practically worthless and is listed at $800. It is estimated that the sewer will cost $2,200.

It was also decided to refer the controversy with William Borneman, in regard to the cost of some sewerage built across his property, to the city engineer for settlement.

Fireless Stoves.

Fireless stoves, or self-cookers, as they are variously known, have been in use in Germany for a number of years. The earlier types were merely boxes constructed with double walls or by secret processes built so as to retain the heat when sealed. These cookers are used as follows: After a thorough heating the food is placed inside the box and left for sufficient time, when it is opened and the food cooked by the retained heat, is ready to serve. Recently a Berlin company has improved upon the apparatus and produced a fireless stove that not only cooks but fries and roasts. Frying and roasting are accompanied by the use of a heated stone.—Exchange.

PARASITES THAT SAP LIFE EXPELLED BY NEW METHOD

The interest created in leading the trouble was. She was extremely nervous; the least little thing would get her; her tongue was coated, and at times she would have a goin' appetite, then again could not bear the sight of food; she was restless at night, had bad breath, especially when she got up in the morning. We tried everything to relieve her, but met with no success. We were just on the point of giving up trying anything else when we began to read of Cooper's New Discovery.

Mr. Cooper believes that internal parasites, or tapeworms, are responsible for much ill health, and it is an undoubted fact that his medicine has expelled immense numbers of these creatures in various cities visited by him. The young man also believes that stomach trouble is the main cause of all ill health. He claims that few can have poor health with a good digestion. He further claims that his New Discovery medicine does nothing but tone up the stomach, yet it not only expels the parasites, but relieves many other ailments not as a rule associated with stomach trouble.

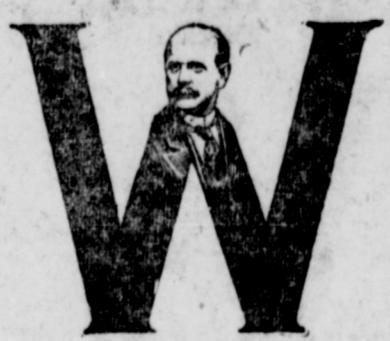

Little Jessie Birdsall, daughter of Mrs. Ida Birdsall, living at 2138 Carroll avenue, Chicago, is among many relieved of a large parasite by Mr. Cooper's preparation during his stay in that city. In speaking of the relief to Mr. Cooper, the mother said: "My child Jessie, who is fourteen years old, has been suffering with this trouble for over seven years. Until this morning we did not know what

We would advise anyone who has been troubled for some time with general poor health to try this great medicine. We are agent for it in this city. —W. B. McPherson.

SOME HATS ARE BIG AND SOME LITTLE

But the Bill is Just as Big For the Little One.

"Merry Widows," as should be expected, Run Pretty Much to Circumference.

MARVELOUS COLOR BLENDING

Today is opening day for the milliners and although the weather man handed out winter weather for the spring openings, he did not detract from the interest. There were hats of all kinds, and to look at five of this spring's hats, would remind one of a dozen ordinary hats. Attention will be attracted by the new headgear for it is extreme, and some hats have been made with a circumference of five feet, nine inches. For the woman who likes to follow the fashion without overdoing it, there is a large selection offered, ranging from 36 to 49 inches in diameter.

With all of the fun that has been credited to the broad brim hat there is one comfort, for one does not have to wear it. If one does not like a big one, she may take little one and there she goes to the opposite extreme. If it is small, it is just a bit just a trifle of a toque perched upon a coronet braid and puff, until the misses have to have two mirrors to enable them to see their hats at all.

However, colors and trimmings redeem them. Never before have local shops displayed such beautiful color combinations, and so skillfully is it done that shades of the most diverse have been blended into one harmonious whole. One Paducah modiste pointed with pride to a long row of hats that were perched on the counter and if they had been analyzed every color on earth could have been found.

Hats are veritable flower gardens, masses of blossoms being piled high on wide brims, and if flowers are not cared for, wings or quills may be ordered. Some hats have seemingly unlimited numbers of quills. By actual count it was found that one hat sported 36 quills. In the colors brown, cake and duck blue, lead, the last color is one between peacock blue and Copenhagen blue.

In hats, as everything else, the "Merry Widow" is the thing. If hubby's pocket will not allow a new hat the ingenious housewife must get one of those erey veils with polka dots as big as a thumb nail. With this "Merry Widow" veil she may drape any old hat, and walk abroad with the serene consciousness that she is strictly "it." With all this joy for the women, man's misery begins today, for the prices are just as high for the little ones as the broad brim sisters, and the bill will have to be paid just the same.

INDEPENDENTS

AIDED BY VIGOROUS POLICY OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Competing Oil Men Say Their Business is Better Since Crusade Started.

Cleveland, O., March 19.—At the opening of the hearing, in the government's ouster suit against the Standard Oil company, Lewis Emery, Jr., of Bradford, Pa., testified, almost exclusively, upon the number, names and capacity of independent refineries existing in 1895, in Pennsylvania and other states. "A lot of new refineries have been built since we obtained some liberties—about ten in the past four or five years, most of them in Kansas and Oklahoma, all independent," Mr. Emery said. "Generally speaking," he continued, "the independent refineries have added, up to now, about 25 per cent capacity over their capacity of 1895."

"What was the date of your emancipation?" Mr. Rosenthal, for the defense, asked.

"Since President Roosevelt has been working on his own hook," replied the witness.

"Since this movement began prosperity among the independents has been general throughout the country."

"Yes, in the oil business and other lines of business."

DETAILS SLOWLY COME TO LIGHT

Conference Between Roosevelt
Gompers and Low.

Gompers Prefers to Let Sherman Law
Stand Rather Than Yield
Strike Weapon.

DISAGREE ABOUT THE BOYCOTT.

Washington, March 19.—Details of the conference held between Seth Low of New York, president of the Civic Federation, and Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, which are slowly coming to light, indicate that labor is not yet committed to legislation about to be urged by President Roosevelt along the lines recommended by the Civic Federation. That there is a difference of opinion that threatens to overturn the program was learned from authoritative sources. Low is said to have returned to New York much discouraged.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor are said to be withholding their support from the program because the president feels that he cannot indorse legislation which would legalize trade boycotts by labor unions. The provision of the proposed bill exempting labor organizations from operations of the Sherman anti-trust law was the medium through which it was intended to secure full endorsement by the American Federation of Labor.

At a conference at the white house which Gompers attended, it appears that organized labor was in complete accord with the program of the Civic Federation. Later, however, Gompers conferred with associates in the American Federation and the consensus of opinion was that the president in his message to congress should recognize the right of organized labor to withhold its trade from the concern whose manner of conducting its business is inimical to organized labor.

It is said the president would not agree to this. It is said that Gompers would prefer that the Sherman anti-trust laws should continue to apply to labor unions rather than consent to a program which might effectively stifle for all time the use of the boycott as a weapon.

Meantime the president's ideas in regard to the proposed message urging a general relief measure, according to persons who have discussed the subject with him, have undergone a change. If the message is sent to congress it will not be until after the 600.

Eighteen Republican Senators Must Face Election by Legislatures.

Civic Federation's bill has been introduced.

This bill will be offered in the house next week by Representative Hepburn of Iowa. The president has not found a senator who approves the measure, on whom he is willing to place the responsibility of championing the measure in the upper body. Therefore the bill is not to be introduced simultaneously in both branches of congress. It will depend upon the fate of the bill in the house whether it reaches the senate at all.

Tobacco Tenants Going South.

Eminence, Ky., March 19.—Concerning action on the part of local tobacco tenants to migrate southward is becoming more than noticeable at this point at this time.

Eight tenants left here this morning to go to Alabama, and it is understood that others and their families will follow. This new move is being experienced throughout the entire burley district.

Scott earned from $50,000 to $75,000 a year by his pen for several years. For eleven novels and nine volumes of tales he received $550.

Washington, March 19.—Eighteen Republican senators must submit their claims for re-election to legislatures that will be chosen this year. Most of them either will succeed themselves or be succeeded by other Republicans in all likelihood. But it is said that not in many years have so many senators had serious opposition in their own party to their return.

Ankeny, of Washington, has strong opposition at home; so has Fulton, of Oregon. Senator Foraker's situation in Ohio is so well known as to need only reference. The Churchill faction in New Hampshire is actively on the trail of Senator Gallinger, and it has the support of the national administration, which has been trying to help the Churchill crowd. Senator Hansbrough, of North Dakota, faces a close fight within his own party. He is charged at home with being a corporation senator, though, curiously enough, Washington has regarded him as decidedly of the progressive class on his record here. Kittredge, of South Dakota, is another man whose toga is sought by the chief executive of his state. Governor Crawford is making a great campaign in the state.

Opposition to Smoot Gaining.

Senator Platt, of New York, has said recently, when asked whether he expected to be a candidate for another term, that he had not decided what he would do. However, there is no expectation that he will be a factor in the Empire state situation. The polygamy question is being revived in Utah and with a vigor which suggests that that state is likely to develop into something like a permanent condition of such and anti-church politics, with the Republicans allied with the Mormons. The opposition to Smoot is gaining ground, according to recent reports, and Republicans in the state are much worried.

ried.

Senator Stephenson, of Wisconsin, is expected to be a candidate for another term, though his election last winter was supposed by his opponents to be simply for the unexpired part of Senator Spooner's term, two years.

However, the Wisconsin man likes the business and his friends have gathered that he is likely to run again. If he does he is likely to win, as he will be stronger now than before and no combination could be arranged to defeat him last year.

Senator Long, of Kansas, has a fight on hand which is reported to be growing more determined month by month. W. R. Stubbs, millionaire, politician and boss, is out for the place and so is J. L. Bristow, former assistant postmaster general. The fight on Long is based on the charge that he has been too good a friend to the corporations and Kansas does not want that sort of thing.

Anderson County for Taft.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., March 19.—Chairman T. J. Ballard, of this city, has issued a call for a meeting of the Eighth district committee to be held here Thursday afternoon for the purpose of determining the time and manner of selecting one elector, two delegates and two alternates to be voted for November 3, also a state central committeeman will be selected. While it was not in the call it is thought that the time and manner of selecting a nominee for congress will be disposed of. The Hon. W. O. Bradley, senator-elect, will be here in the interest of Fairbanks for president. Anderson is a strong Taft county and there will likely be a warm fight.

Living for others is an imperative of the higher life.

A STYLE EXPOSITION Of Extreme Interest

TOMORROW THE STYLE STORE will make its first display of the prevailing modes for Spring 1908, and the new things shown in every department will indeed be a revelation of the beautiful and timely. There are three qualifications which every bit of merchandise which comes into our store must fulfill before it is given place: The QUALITY must be unimpeachable, the STYLE up to the very minute and the PRICE reasonable and as low, or lower, than our competitors. Never in our history have we been so perfectly satisfied that all these qualifications have been met. The only thing which lacks now is your confirmation of our judgment and we know that if you are among those present tomorrow we shall have that, too. We shall be delighted to have you come and bring your friends.

In the Suit Department

One of the most attractive offerings in the Suit Department is the Madam Butterfly Suit, a style shown exclusively by us, and there are also a host of other beautiful models, the most extreme as well as the most conservative styles. In fabric, there is a profusion of the new Elephant and Smoke shades of gray and tan.

Dress Goods Department

In the Dress Goods Department we are certainly sustaining the reputation which this store has for years borne among critical ladies of Paducah and Western Kentucky. Dress Goods are one of our specialties and you have a right to expect from us the most complete sort of display in new things. The display embraces innumerable variations of the colors which have caught on for this spring's wear—Copenagan Blues, Electric Blues, Browns, Tans in the ultra-fashionable Smoke and Elephant shades which predominate. Fabrics are Voiles, Panamas, Batistes and Serges.

The Dainty New Silks

Every fashion paper you pick up is full of delighted comment on the rough silks which are to be worn so much this spring, and probably at no other store in Paducah will you find such an extensive display of them from which to make your choice. There are the new Rajah Silks in all shades, Tussah Silks in the worsted effect, Pongees in all shades, as well as the smooth and lustrous Satin and Silk finish Foulards.

Wash Goods for Spring

This Wash Goods display of ours is a matter of especial pride with us, for we have been preparing for it for many months. There is a vast showing of all the prevailing novelties—the French Organies, Fancy Dress Linens, the bordered Nouveaute, Chiffon Lisse and Imported Batistes. The designers have fairly outdone themselves this spring in the matter of colorings and the new effects will certainly prove themselves a revelation.

Novelties and Dress Accessories

This announcement would be incomplete without an enthusiastic reference to the display we make of those thousand and one little things which add effectiveness to Milady's toilette—the Anthony Belt, the Anthony Bag, Merry Widow Neckwear, Merry Widow Belts, Fancy Collars, New Ruchings, Chamois Gloves, Belt Pins and many other things which you will like.

See the Hindoo Magician

Madam Rheda will perform some brand new feats of Hindoo magic tomorrow. There will be four performances every day this week: At 11 a.m., 2:30, 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. You are cordially invited to come and bring the children; they will enjoy her mystifying work.
